NEW BOOKS

A Remarkable and Timely Book

The Private Life of the Sultan

By GEORGES DORYS, son of the late Prince of Samos, a former minister of the Sultan, and formerly Governor of Crete. Translated by Arthur Hornblow. Uniform with "The Private Life of King Edward VII." Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.20 net; postage, 10 cents additional.

The high position which the writer's father held at Constantinople gave the son a close insight into the personality of one of the least known of modern rulers, so far as personality is concerned. It is now announced that the author has been recently condemned to death by the Sultan on account of this book.

Lincoln in Story

The Life of the Martyr President told in Authenticated Anecdotes. Edited by SILAS G. PRATT. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, 75 cents net; postage, 9 cents additional.

This interesting book offers a narrative of Lincoln's life, composed of the best stories told by and about the Martyr President. The author, who heard Lincoln speak, and saw him nominated, has carefully collected the characteristic incidents and anecdotes that occasionally brighten the pages of the formal biographies, and he has arranged them consecutively with connecting text.

THE ETERNAL CITY

A Novel. By HALL CAINE. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"A book sure to attain immense popularity, for it has in it all that color and 'thrill' which particularly appeals to the tastes of the vast majority of our American reading public."—Boston Budget.

A Nest of Linnets

By F. FRANKFORT MOORE, author of "The Jessamy Bride," "A Gray Eye or So," etc. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This charming romance is in the vein the author developed so happily in "The Jessamy Bride," and it is in many respects a more mature and important work. The story is exceedingly happy in its delicate reproduction of eighteenth century atmosphere. The love-scenes are placed before the reader with a daintiness and grace admirably befitting the finer aspects of the period.

Captain of the Crew

By RALPH HENRY BARBOUR, author of "For the Honor of the School" and "The Half-Back." Illustrated by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth, $1.20 net; postage, 14 cents additional.

Mr. Barbour has made himself a master of sport in fiction for young readers. His new book is one of those fresh, graphic, delightful stories of school life that appeal to all healthy boys and girls.

One of the six best sellers in New York two weeks after publication

CAPTAIN RAVENSHAW

By Robert Neilson Stephens

Author of "Philip Winwood," "An Enemy to the King," etc., etc.

Beautifully Illustrated by HOWARD PYLE
AND OTHER ARTISTS

Cloth 400 Pages $1.50

Miss Marshall Saunders, author of "Beautiful Joe," says—"It is a very strong story with a lively vein of humor running through it."

Miss Bertha Runkle, author of "The Helmet of Navarre," says—"What impresses me most about 'Captain Ravenshaw' is, in a word, its reality."

Mr. Clinton Scollard, author of "A Man at Arms," says—"The 'Captain' is mightily well done, and has taken his place in my affections side by side with Weyman's 'Gil de Berault.' They are a very notable and likeable pair."

Mr. Charles G. D. Roberts, author of "A Sister to Evangeline," says—"Mr. Stephens has succeeded in the difficult task of wedding the methods of the Realists to the matter of the Romanticists."

The Most Dramatic Work of MR. CABLE'S Literary Career

THE CAVALIER

By GEORGE W. CABLE

Author of "OLD CREOLE DAYS," "THE GRANDISSIMES," Etc.

With eight full-page illustrations by

HOWARD CHANDLER CHRISTY

THERE has never been a story of the Civil War like this one, and the dramatic crises of the tale will give fullest satisfaction to that body of novel-readers to whom "the story" is the chief thing. In addition, the art of a fiction-writer, of which Mr. Cable has been for so many years master, is used at its fullest development to tell the most powerful tale that Mr. Cable has ever devised. "The Cavalier" will take its place as one of the greatest novels of the South in the Civil War, as well as one of the most intensely interesting stories of its accomplished author.

$1.50

Will Be Ready the First Week in October

We fully expect this vigorous and intensely dramatic love story to prove one of the best sellers of the season.

NOTES IN SEASON.

HARPER & BROTHERS announce that in view of President McKinley's death, and in deference to the author's wishes, they have concluded to postpone for a short time the publication of Gen. Alger's book, "The Spanish-American War," which was expected on the 19th inst.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. announce a new book by Francis Gerard, entitled "Wagner at Bayreuth, and the Festival Plays." They will publish some time in October a new book on "Church Needlework." This will be an unusually interesting volume, with numerous illustrations. The author is Maud R. Hall. This is the only book available on the subject, as the old book by Mrs. Dolby is out of print and difficult to obtain.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just issued "St. Peter and St. Jude," by Rev. Charles Bigg, of the "International Critical Commentary;" "The Early History of Syria and Palestine," by Lewis Bayles Paton; and have added "The Messages of the Prophetic and Priestly Historians," by John Edgar McFayden, to The Messages of the Bible Series. "The Education of the American Citizen," by Arthur Twining Hadley, president of Yale University, belongs to the valuable set of books gotten up for the bi-centennial anniversary of the university. In lighter vein are "Stephen Calinari," by Julian Sturgis; "Raffles: Further Adventures of the Amateur Cracksman," by E. W. Hornung, illustrated by F. C. Yohn; and "Papa Bouchard," by Molly Elliott Seawell, a tale of up-to-date Paris.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just published a new edition of Ella C. Sykes's "Through Persia on a Side-Saddle," with eight full-page illustrations and a map; a new translation of De la Motte Fouque's "Sintram and His Companions," by A. M. Richards, illustrated by Anna Richards; a volume of stirring tales of adventure of the South Sea by Louis Becke, entitled "Yorke the Adventurer;" a new novel by Rosa N. Carey, entitled "The Herb of Grace;" also, a capital story of adventure for boys by Kirk Munroe, entitled "The Belt of Seven Totems," profusely illustrated. There is also ready with the Lippincott imprint a portfolio of the exquisite illustrations which appear in Gilbert White's "Selborne," recently published by this firm. They have begun the issue of a new library edition of George Eliot's novels in ten volumes, one volume to be issued each month. This edition is handsomely illustrated with photogravures, and the best materials have been combined with good taste in the making of the books.

D. APPLETON & Co. announce a very fine edition of the novels of Fenimore Cooper, with the complete series of original steel engravings by the celebrated American artist, F. O. C. Darley. Paul Leicester Ford has written a life of Cooper and a general introduction to this edition; Edward Everett Hale has written the introduction to the "Leather Stocking Tales," wherein he recalls the memories of the old New York frontier and the empire of the Iroquois; while Captain Mahan has prepared an appreciative introduction to the "Sea Tales." The fifty-first impressions of the Edition de luxe are to be sold at $20 per volume, making the set of thirty-two volumes cost subscribers $640. This set will be specially bound for each subscriber. The circular describing this set of Cooper is a work of art in itself, and makes a most attractive brochure to add to one's library. It contains sketches of the individual novels and a spirited critical study of Cooper. They have secured the rights for publishing in this country a new Artistic Crafts Series, edited by W. R. Lethaby. The first volume is entitled "Book Binding and Care of Books," by Douglas Cockerel, which is nearly ready. The others on "Cabinet Making" and "Gold Beaters Art" will be ready this year. All will be adequately illustrated.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A story of the Civil War, like the author's previous story, "Who goes there?" Berwick, the hero, after escaping from the Confederates, whom he has been forced to serve, becomes a spy for Generals Meade and Grant. He has many personal experiences of rare interest; being forced to endure battle in the ranks of his enemies for whom he feigns to fight; he encounters peril by flood, on field, and in fire; but above the personal interest there supervenes a political intrigue which Berwick discovers and counteracts—an intrigue which has for its end the success of the Southern Confederacy through adequate means.

The Bastable family were the characters of "The story of the treasure seekers" published in 1899. The first instalment of their adventures closed with the coming of a rich uncle from India. He ended their poverty stricken condition, and in this story they are living in a handsome house with plenty of pocket money and fine clothes. They are still full of mischief—their fresh adventures making the story. They have with them two little visitors. To help each other on the way to reformation they organize the society of "The Wouldbegoods."

The noted writer, Mary A. Dodge, known to the world as "Gail Hamilton," was throughout her life in the habit of writing frequent letters to her family and friends, minute in description and keen in criticism. These letters not only present her life more fully than it could be told by another, but deal most intimately with literary and political leaders of her day. They are introduced by a letter from her friend, J: G. Whittier, and a biographical sketch by Harriet Prescott Spofford.

The authors' purpose is to answer the thousand questions which intelligent persons who are not linguistic scholars are continually asking with regard to their mother tongue. After a brief account of various theories of the origin of human speech, the poetical nature of the language-making faculty is explained and illustrated. Different kinds of language are then distinguished—literary, technical and colloquial. Slang is fully discussed, and the identity of its processes with those of legitimate discourse is pointed out. Special chapters are devoted to fashions in speech; to words from the names of animals and from those of persons and places; to the complex sources of our vocabulary; to the conventional nature of language, etc. Every point is illustrated by examples.

STOCKING UP WITH FRESH GOODS.

ON the threshold of what promises to be another very busy fall and holiday season, we take occasion to point out the necessity of clearing away the rubbish and other impedimenta, in the shape of shopworn or unsaleable goods, whether of books, stationery or novelties, and replacing them with timely and fresh stock. Though this course is of the utmost importance to a business, commercially and financially, how often is it overlooked, especially by the country dealer, who, because of his disregard of this vital matter, suffers loss and then attributes his disaster to bad luck and every other evil excepting to his own inertia and want of foresight and push and energy.

Such as we have in our mind's eye appear to be supremely indifferent to the nature and age of their stock, and persist in having the same goods on show month after month. The only sign in their windows of the change of seasons is the appearance of a few cards, half of them perhaps of previous years' designs. The rest of their windows is filled up with cobwebby and dusty quires of antediluvian note paper, odd bunches of the old familiar red-handled penholders, pieces of half-melted sealing-wax twisted into odd Dantesque shapes, a ball or two of red and faded blue twine, a damaged porcelain figure, a rusted Jew'sharp (to maintain the claim of a dealer in objects of art and musical instruments), and a baker's dozen of books—all back numbers. The result of such shopkeeping is that the number of old customers gradually diminishes, the majority of them preferring to patronize more enterprising rivals or to send their orders out of town.

To all such, and to those who follow after them, we offer the advice: Clear out all your old stock, even if it be at "an enormous sacrifice," and replace it by up-to-date books and novelties—not necessarily a large stock of such, but one selected with care and discrimination, with as much regard, as possible, for the particular taste and wants of your constituency. And when the representatives of publishing and other houses call on you—and call they will—don't bawl out from the further end of your store, "Nothing in your line to-day," but look over what they have to show you; and if you find anything new that will suit your trade make a selection, if it be ever so small. Go slowly enough at all times not to overstock or to load up with what you will never need. Know yourself what you want and don't let others prescribe for you.

A couple of dollars judiciously invested, especially in the latest novelties, will freshen up and enliven a whole shopful of semi-moribund lines—not that we would for a moment advise the retention of the latter if they can in any way be speedily got rid of. There is a close affinity—in a metaphorical sense—between old stocks and weak backs. To get a new outfit is to put in a new backbone. Surgically, this is still an unsolved problem; commercially, it is a possibility.

BY way of the Hamburger Correspondent comes the interesting news that Frank W. Lovell has established himself in London with a view of introducing a lot of shilling books, bound in cloth, through newspaper syndicates and "draper's shops." He expects to sell half a million books the first year, and more after that. He will incidentally teach the European book trade that "the old methods of selling books are no longer effective, having been supplanted by those which have made department stores so phenomenally successful." To a reporter Mr. Lovell imparted the information that "in the United States the old-time literary bookseller, who knew his book inside and outside, is quite extinct." It might be well for Mr. Lovell to take to heart the famous saying of the late Mr. Charles A. Dana, that "it were better for a man not to know quite so much, as to know so many things that are not so."

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA.

THE editor of "Who's Who," John W. Leonard, in his preface to the revised edition of this useful work, has compiled some interesting statistics from the great amount of personal information condensed in his closely-printed pages. Of the 11,551 men and women mentioned, 9800 are natives and 1281 foreign-born, the nativity of 461 being unrecorded. The list includes 2066 natives of the State of New York, 1130 born in Massachusetts, 1020 in Pennsylvania, and 806 in Ohio. As to the present location of our notables, 2849 live in New York, 1010 in Massachusetts, 880 in Pennsylvania, 704 in Illinois, and 422 in Ohio. The 889 resident in the District of Columbia need not be particularly considered; since that is usually a residence dependent on official station. There are 307 natives of Virginia included in this book, but only 145 residents of that State. Those born in New England number altogether 2435; the residents, only 1631. In the States west of the Mississippi this relation is, of course, reversed. Of the men and women of foreign birth who have attained distinction here, there are 287 natives of England, 238 of Germany, 146 of Ireland, 84 of Scotland, and 43 of France—a smaller proportion, altogether, than might have been supposed when it is considered that the list includes diplomatists, actors, and others of peripatetic fame.

One other item in these statistics is worthy of note. Assuming that the 11,551 people whose names are included in "Who's Who" represent fairly the best achievement among contemporary Americans, what were their educational advantages? The editor has this information concerning 8141 of them. Only 313 of these did not attend school; 808 had only a public-school education; but all the others went on through the higher academic grades; and 5775 are collegians, including the 289 graduates of the military and naval academies in this class.

A NEWSDEALER'S REQUISITE OF SUCCESS.

The News Trade Bulletin, published by Street & Smith, recently printed a number of communications from newsdealers in response to an inquiry from the editor, "What are the Requisites of Success in the News Business?" from which we make the following extracts:

One contributor pins his faith on cash transactions and no credit, while another holds that economy is the watchword of success. Perhaps the most striking feature of all the letters is the manner in which the newsdealers insist upon the necessity of possessing such information as a trade paper provides.

Says one: "Keep posted—read freely. Be able to tell your customers what is worth buying and reading." Whilst another says: "You should be posted in regard to the books you handle, and should be able to tell your customers whether it is a story of love, adventure, or of some other kind."

Clean shops, tidy windows, civility, neatness, a display of magazines and posters, an up-to-date stock, regular collecting days where credit is given, promptness and dispatch, these are things upon which an unvarying insistence is placed, while many minor suggestions are also worth noting. "Do not ignore the schoolboy or girl's penny trade, as they are great advertisers within the home circle," is good advice; but, perhaps, the richest morsel in the whole bushel of good recipes for success is found in the laconic advice, "Perpetual push." Be he soldier, statesman, merchant, or newsagent, perpetual push is the royal means to a successful end.

Says another: "Never talk politics or religion to your customers when you can help it. Interest them, rather, in a new magazine or book. It pays you better in the end."

The same advice, differently worded, is often to be met with, as is also "Allow no loafing." A loafer seems to be the bête noir of the newsdealer, and members of the trade are urged to offer him no compromise. Perhaps the most unnecessary advice to the poor newsdealer, who probably works as long hours as any other shopkeeper, is offered by one who says that "Keeping everlastingly at it brings success." We should hope so. The man who keeps eternally at his business deserves more than success—he deserves a monument!

THE INVENTOR OF THE LETTER-COPYING PRESS.

PERHAPS not one of the thousands who now use letter-copying presses remember or are aware who invented this useful contrivance. He was no less a personage than James Watt, the inventor of the modern condensing steam engine. Watt experimented for several years with a process for copying manuscript by using a glutinous ink and pressing the written page against a moistened sheet of thin paper. The preparing of the ink, which he undertook with the aid of an acquaintance who was a chemist, at first presented the greatest difficulties, as the properties of aniline colors at that time were unknown. Watt patented his invention in 1780, describing both a roller press, the use of which he seems to have preferred in copying his own correspondence, and also the form of screw press now found in every merchant's office. Although the usefulness of the invention was generally admitted, the opposition to it was both strong and violent, because it was feared that it would facilitate forgery. One opponent declared in the presence of the manufacturer of the press that Watt deserved to be hanged and his apparatus to be burned. Notwithstanding this feeling 150 presses were sold during the year 1780, when they were first put on the market.

OBITUARY NOTES.

JAMES S. PACKARD, who will be remembered in the publishing trade through his long connection with the firm of Bulkley, Dunton & Co., dealers in paper, at 75 Duane Street, New York, committed suicide on the afternoon of the 16th inst. Mr. Packard had suffered for some time with nervous trouble.

JAMES HOOKER HAMERSLEY, well known through his connections with New York society, died September 16, at his country home, Garrisons-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. He was born in New York, January 26, 1844, graduated from Columbia in 1865. For about ten years he practiced law, then retired to look after the large estate left by his father. Literature was his diversion, and he was the author of a number of poems, some of which were published in book form under the title of "The Seven Voices." He also contributed to the magazines articles on politics and history.

HENRY BENJAMIN WHIPPLE, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Minnesota, died at his home, in Faribault, Minn., on Monday, September 16. Bishop Whipple, long known as the "Apostle to the Indians," who called him "Straight Tongue," was born at Adams, N. Y., on February 15, 1822, admitted to the priesthood of the Protestant Episcopal church in 1850, and became Bishop of Minnesota in 1859. He founded many schools and fought many fights in Washington for the rights of the Indians of his diocese, and in 1876 secured the Sioux treaty by means of which the most fertile parts of Dakota were opened to settlement. The Bishop was widely known throughout the world. He visited Havana, Hawaii and Porto Rico after they came under American control. Bishop Whipple wrote voluminously on the Indian question, and published several volumes of letters and sermons. He also had just recently published "Lights and Shadows of a Long Episcopate."

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THE real name of Maxim Gordy is Alieksiei Maksimovitch Pieshkov. Gordy is a pseudonym, signifying "the bitter one."

JULES VERNE, the famous French romancer, it is reported, has become totally blind. He has been suffering for years from a malady of the eyes.

IT now appears that Ernest Seton-Thompson's name is Ernest Evan Seton. A short time ago it was stated that his name was Ernest Thompson Seton, but the Thompson seems to be an assumed name.

MAX BEERBOHM TREE is at work on a "Book on Rascals," in which he is assisted by James Pryde, the partner of William Nicholson of poster fame. Mr. Beerbohm's gallery includes almost every famous rascal from Jonathan Wild to the Tichborne claimant.

FRANCIS COWLEY BURNAND, author of "Happy Thoughts," which first appeared in Punch in 1866, is said to be writing his reminiscences, which cover fifty-odd years of London stage, journalism, and literature. He knew intimately most of the famous men in these departments of endeavor who figured in the Victorian epoch.

IT is disclosed that the author of "The Private Stable," which Little, Brown & Company originally published under the pseudonym of "Jorrocks," is the well-known horseman, James A. Garland. Mr. Garland's work was received by the press with entire approval. It goes with the utmost thoroughness into all the details of the equipment and management of a private stable.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BURLINGTON, VT.—George H. Wilder, of the Montpelier Music Store, Montepelier, Vt., has opened a branch book and stationery store on Main Street, with R. A. Brush in charge. Mr. Brush is also looking after a book store just opened at St. Albans, Vt.

ELMIRA, N. Y.—James H. Dumars, bookseller, had his stock damaged by fire August 24.

IOWA CITY, IA.—Joseph J. Lee has purchased the Pioneer Book Store, at 117 Washington Street. The business, according to Geyer's Stationer, was established in 1851 by William Lee, who was the pioneer of the book store business in Iowa City, and who gave his place the name "Pioneer Book Store," which it yet retains. For twenty years William Lee served the wants of the community, until he died in 1871, when his son, James Lee, succeeded to the business, and continued the same without a change of name until 1888, when he also died. In that year John Ries purchased an interest in the business with Margaret Lee. The firm remained intact until the 1st of September, when Mr. Ries retired on account of failing health, selling his interest to Margaret Lee. Now the place has again changed ownership, but it still remains Lee's "Pioneer Book Store." Joseph J. Lee, although no relative of the Lees who have always been identified with the business, steps in and uses the same name."

JAMESTOWN, N. Y.—Frank M. Clark has purchased the interest of C. E. Clark in the firm of Clark Bros., booksellers, and will hereafter conduct the business under the firm name of Frank M. Clark.

KNOXVILLE, TENN.—Norman B. Morrell has been appointed receiver of the affairs of Ogden Bros. & Co., wholesale booksellers and stationers. The nominal assets are stock of stationery, invoiced a little while prior to appointment of receiver at $18,000, a job office and bindery, perhaps worth $7000 to $10,000, and accounts, book value, $9000. Estimated liabilities, $41,000. The receiver is at present, under order of court, conducting the business with the view of realizing as much as possible for the equal benefit of all creditors. There is some chance that the company will be reorganized by some of the larger creditors and stockholders.

MORRISTOWN, N. J.—Edward L. Morris has succeeded to the book business of his brother, M. P. Morris, on South Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—Temple Scott has been succeeded as American representative of John Lane by T. E. Comba, of the firm of Truslove, Hanson & Comba.

PEORIA, ILL.—A new book and stationery store is to be started at 105 South Adams Street, about October 15, by the Richardson Book and Stationery Co. The firm starts well equipped, and the business is to be conducted along modern lines by young men. Richardson Brothers, who were recently burned out at Mattoon, Ill., are interested in the new enterprise.

BIBILIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE office of the Répertoire des ventes publiques cataloguées, 9 Rue du Faubourg-Poissonniere, Paris, has just issued the fifth volume of the "Répertoire des ventes publiques cataloguées — index bibliographique," by Pierre Dauze. This volume, which forms in a measure the counterpart to the "English" and the "American Book Prices Current," for French books, reports about 12,600 works sold at sixty-two auction sales, from October 1, 1897 to September 30, 1898—really only till May, 1898, as no auction sales are held during the months of June, July and August. The record is alphabetical by authors and titles, and gives the price of each volume as sold. (clvi+918 p. 8°, pap., 36 francs.)

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—Bloch Publishing Co., 19 W. 22d St., New York, Hebrew books, Jewish publications, etc. (74 p. 32°.)—Elder & Shepard, 238 Post St., San Francisco, The Tomoyé Catalogue. An interesting pamphlet containing besides a list of new books "bookish" quotations and illustrations of the interior of the Elder & Shepard store. (28 p. 16°.)—E. W. Johnson, 2 E. 42d St., New York, Miscellaneous and Americana. (No. 22, 305 titles.)—Joseph McDonough, 53 State St., Albany, N. Y., Miscellaneous. (No. 167, 4732-5328 titles.)—Maggs Bros., 109 Strand, London, Books on Africa, America, Australia and India. (No. 183, 1263 titles.)—A. Maurice, 23 Bedford St., London, Miscellaneous. (No. 98, 326 titles.)—John D. Walker, De Graaf Building, Albany, N. Y., First editions. (63 titles.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE CHISWICK PUBLISHING CO., New York, will publish shortly a novel entitled "The Price Inevitable," by R. S. Sidner.

DODD, MEAD & CO. will publish early next month "The Prophet of Berkeley Square," a tragic extravaganza," by Robert Hichens.

THE Regimental Association of the Eighty-seventh Pennsylvania Volunteers, Philadelphia, has just published a history of the regiment, by George R. Prowell.

THE HOME PUBLISHING COMPANY announce a new edition of A. C. Gunter's novel of the Boxer uprising in China, entitled "Tangled Flags," which has proven one of the most successful novels of the year.

H. W. WILSON, Minneapolis, announces "A Manual of Elementary Practical Physics for High Schools," by Julius Hortwet; and a translation of George B. Frankforter's "Introduction to Qualitative Analysis."

THE CROSCUP & STERLING COMPANY, New York, are publishing by subscription a new and complete unabridged edition, in eighteen volumes, of the novels of Samuel Richardson, edited by Professor W. L. Phelps, of Yale.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY announce that the title of Alfred Hodder's forthcoming novel will be "The New Americans," instead of "The Heirs of Yesterday," and that the title of Robert Herrick's new novel will be "The Real World," not "Jock O'Dreams," as hitherto announced.

THE FOREST AND STREAM PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, announce for immediate publication "My Angling Friends," by Fred Mather; "Pictures from Forest and Stream;" "Manual of Taxidermy," by C. J. Maynard; and "Training the Hunting Dog for the Field and Field Trials," by B. Waters.

D. C. HEATH & CO. will publish immediately Goldoni's "La Locondiera," with notes and vocabulary by Professor Geddes and Professor Josselyn, of Boston University; also, Heyse's "Hochzeit auf Capri," with notes, vocabulary and conversational exercises by Dr. William Bernhardt, of Washington, D. C.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready "Flood Tide," a new novel of life in the primitive by-ways of an isolated hamlet on the coast of Maine, by Mrs. Sarah Pratt McLean Greene, author of "Vesty of the Basins," "Cape Cod Folks," etc.; also, "The Strength of the Hills," a story of mountain life in the Adirondacks, by Florence Wilkinson.

GEORGE M. HILL COMPANY, Chicago, have just ready "American Fairy Tales," twelve original humorous stories written for children, by L. Frank Baum. While the author has followed the plan of the familiar old-time fairy tales, his stories are absolutely modern in treatment, the scenes being laid in the twentieth century, instead of "once upon a time."

MME. SARAH BERNHARDT has just made arrangements with F. Marion Crawford for the production of his new play, which will probably appear this season. It is said that the title will be "The Harvest of the Sword," and that the same plot will be used by Mr. Crawford in the novel, as yet unwritten, but which has been announced for several years as on the stocks.

THE NEW AMSTERDAM BOOK COMPANY will publish shortly under the title of "Hasty Pudding Poems" a collection of "impromptu and impulsive verses," representing all ages and countries and almost every known profession, gathered together in the course of a twenty years' search, by Rodney Blake. They have in preparation, as a souvenir of the anniversary of Eugene Field's birthday, which occurs November 4, a fairy story written by Mr. Field that has not as yet been published in book form.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish on October 5 "Circumstance," a new novel by Dr. Mitchell, who makes use of a most effective contrast. Nothing could be more incongruous than a well-dressed, consummate adventuress, in the highly respectable setting of Philadelphia society. The woman, Mrs. Hunter, is the centre of the situation. The story begins and ends with her daring Philadelphia social enterprise; but meantime the reader becomes absorbed in the affairs of a group of people of various kinds, each individualized with penetration and skill.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. will publish on the 28th inst. a volume entitled "Life Everlasting," by the late John Fiske. This discourse on immortality has the importance of a great theme dealt with by a master of expression. Mr. Fiske's massive yet simple style was never exercised to such advantage as in dealing with the graver matter of human destiny, and this volume, like his books on "The Idea of God" and "The Destiny of Man," will possess a strong attraction for thoughtful minds. Completing as it does the series of books on human life and destiny, it forms a fitting conclusion to a life of literary labors.

H. M. CALDWELL CO., Boston, will publish on October 15 "The Seven Sins," by Eugene Sue, in five volumes, illustrated with etchings and half-tones. The volumes will be uniform with their editions of Sue's "Wandering Jew" and "Mysteries of Paris." They have published an attractive holiday edition of Charles Reade's "The Cloister and the Hearth," with original etchings and hand-illuminated frontispieces; also, an edition of John Bain's excellent collection, entitled "Tobacco in Song and Story," bound in full chamois, tobacco color, perfecto ribbon book mark, and boxed in an imitation cigar box, which makes a peculiarly appropriate gift to a man who smokes or as a euchre or whist prize.

J. F. TAYLOR & CO. will publish at once "The Van Dwellers," a humorous story by Albert Bigelow Paine, who dedicates his book to those unfortunate persons "who have lived in flats, who live in flats, and who expect to live in flats." They will publish shortly "The Ordeal of Elizabeth," a picture of New York social life, by a "prominent New York society belle whose identity is kept in darkness;" "Lachmi Bai," a novel dealing with the Sepoy Rebellion, by Michael White, formerly an officer in the British army; also, "The Billy Stories," by Eva Lovett, a book for boys. The interest which "A Drone and a Dreamer" has aroused in Nelson Lloyd's work has necessitated a new edition of his former book, "The Chronic Loafer." The new edition will be issued shortly. William Heinemann has secured the London market for both of these books, and has included them in his Library of American Authors. "The Chronic Loafer" has scored a great success in England. "A Drone and a Dreamer" is now in its third edition in this country.

JAMES POTT & CO. announce a charming book, entitled "By the Waters of Sicily," by Nora Lorimer. It contains the letters of a brother to his sister, giving a series of vivid pictures of life in Sicily, telling about the people and all sorts of Italian things, and finally a delightful romance. The first half of the letters is dated from Syracuse, and gives color to the title. The remaining half of the letters is devoted to Castrogiovanni, high up on the mountain Girgenti, where the sulphur trade centres, and Palermo. The larger part of the book is made up of usually intimate pictures of Sicilian life. In this respect it is one of the best guide books to the places above named. It will be fully illustrated. They have made arrangements to publish in this country a "History of Russia, from Peter the Great to Alexander II.," by W. R. Morfill. Founded on the study of original documents, though necessarily brief, the book promises to be a most comprehensive narrative. Considerable attention has been paid to the social and literary development of the country and the recent expansion of Russia in Asia.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO. have just ready Kipling's new Indian story, "Kim." The volume contains excellent reproductions of the original illustrations. They have also just ready the two last volumes of the Personal edition of George Eliot's novels, which are notable in that each contains, among other unique illustrations, a hitherto unpublished portrait—one of George Eliot, herself, and the other of her father, Robert Evans, both by Mrs. Charles Bray. The two volumes contain respectively the poems and essays. A novel by the author of "An Englishwoman's Love Letters," entitled "A Modern Antæus," is the interesting announcement which Doubleday, Page & Co. make in their autumn list. Several of the first chapters are already in type, and some who have read them think they see in them an answer to the most often repeated question in the "love letter" mystery, "Why wasn't there a marriage?" On the other hand, others who hold the "letters" genuine and the novel, alone, a purely literary production, maintain that the entire novel adds to the mystery of the unknown writer, for the manuscript has been placed in the publishers' hands without information as to how long it has been written. However the case, one of the fortunate readers, who well knows literary merit and publishers' methods, testifies that the novel could never have been previously submitted for publication, founding his belief on his own assertion that it would have been too eagerly accepted by the publisher to be long suppressed.

AUCTION SALES.

[Under this heading advance notices will be inserted without charge, of book auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.]

LIBBIE & CO., 646 Washington St., Boston, will sell in October the remaining portion of the very valuable and interesting Masonic library, including Masonic medals, Masonic pottery, etc., of the late John Haigh, 33°, of Somerville, Mass. They have in preparation the catalogues of a collection of rare American portraits, etc., of the late Rev. R. C. Waterston, of Boston; also, the collection of playbills, photographs, autographs and portraits of the late Frederick W. French.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents a line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office should either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

"A magnificent story. . . . As for the variety of incidents, and the vivacity, fire, and graphic power of the style, they are absolutely delightful."—Boston Advertiser.

Voysey

By R. O. PROWSE, author of "The Poison of Asps." Cloth, gilt top, $1.50.

"The volume is full of thought, admirably expressed, and leaves the reader with a strong impression of the writer's remarkable character drawing."—Montreal Star.

Foes in Law

By RHODA BROUGHTON. 12mo, cloth, $1.50. (Second Edition.)

The story is worked out very clearly with that lightness of touch which makes Miss Broughton's work distinctly and deliciously interesting.

Henry Bourland—The Passing of the Cavalier

A Novel of Interpretation. By ALBERT ELMER HANCOCK. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50. (Third Edition.)

"Not only is it a splendid example of vigorous fiction, but it is sure to educate where text-books fail."—Denver Republican.

The New Canterbury Tales

By MAURICE HEWLETT, author of "The Forest Lovers," "Little Novels of Italy," "The Life and Death of Richard Yea and Nay," etc. Illustrated by W. Hyde. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

In his new book Mr. Maurice Hewlett has taken the Canterbury pilgrimage as the scene of his narrative.

The Forest Lovers

By MAURICE HEWLETT. 12mo, cloth, $1.50. (Eleventh Edition.)

"One hardly knows which to admire most, the literary skill and artistic finish of Mr. Hewlett's romance, or the exquisite daintiness and purity of the love story."—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Maid of Venice

By F. MARION CRAWFORD, author of "In the Palace of the King," "Via Crucis," "Saracinesca," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The Benefactress

By the author of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden," "The Solitary Summer," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

A novel by this charming writer is sure to find a welcome in America, where her other books have been so widely read. "The Benefactress" is a young English woman who has a fortune left her by a German relative. She takes up her property in Germany and lives there.

Calumet "K"

The Romance of a Grain Elevator

By HENRY K. WEBSTER and SAMUEL MERWIN, authors of "The Short Line War," and "The Banker and the Bear." Illustrated. 12mo, cloth $1.50.

Calumet "K" is a two-million-bushel grain elevator, and this story tells how Charlie Bannon built it "against time."

The New Americans.

By ALFRED HODDER, author of "The Adversaries of the Sceptic," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The hero and the heroine are a Benedick and a Beatrice, in that they both "made light of love"; a Benedick and Beatrice who have made light of it too long, and have been taken in its snare too late for the course of true love to run smooth.

A Friend With the Countersign

By B. K. BENSON, author of "Who Goes There? the Story of a Spy in the Civil War." Illustrated by Louis Betts. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"Who Goes There?" has been styled by army critics as the best story that has yet been written on the Civil War. Mr. Benson's new novel.

The RIGHT of WAY

By

GILBERT PARKER

Author of "The Seats of the Mighty" and "The Battle of the Strong"

"THE RIGHT OF WAY" is not only Mr. Parker's greatest work, but it is a novel which is destined to live and to occupy a permanent place in our literature. It is a story that compels attention from start to finish. No more brilliant character study, no more charming a love story and no more remarkable picture of man's struggle with himself and his final triumph, has ever been written. It is not a story of temporary popularity, but of lasting importance. Its advance sales have been larger than those of either "Eleanor" or "Trilby," and dealers report that no novel since Lew Wallace's "The Prince of India" has called forth so much inquiry from their customers.

OUTDOOR LIFE IN KENTUCKY

By JOHN FOX, Jr.

Author of "Crittenden," "The Kentuckians," etc. Illustrations by F. C. YOHN, LOUIS LOEB, JULES GUERIN, W. A. ROGERS and MAX E. KLEPPER.

This book of most captivating title, by an author who has been growing greatly in public favor, may, in character, be classed with the outdoor sketches of Henry van Dyke, which it resembles in distinction and beauty. It will contain many homely Kentucky sketches of the sort that brought Mr. Fox his first literary reputation, including lively sporting scenes, glimpses of fox, coon and rabbit hunting, etc.

A POWERFUL NOVEL.

The Romance of Gilbert Holmes.

By MARSHALL MONROE KIRKMAN.

SELLING BY THOUSANDS.

"The Romance of Gilbert Holmes" will find a permanent place in twentieth century literature. It is remarkable for the purity of its English; its choice and rhythmic diction; its profound character analyses, and its charming nature descriptions - unsurpassed in our language. The exquisite love story that runs through its pages makes the book appeal to the taste and sympathy of all mankind.

The author is the first writer to enshrine our national heroes, Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis, in the legendary lore of our country; to portray them free from the incrustations and scars of politics; to speak of them as they were—tender and true; to reach their inner lives, showing their lofty and ideal aspirations. He strips from them the cerements in which superficial writers and the cold historian have hidden their personality. He speaks of Lincoln as the poet and man, and of Davis in his youth, as the magnificent and chivalrous soul he was. So, too, he portrays the renowned Sac Chieftain, Black Hawk, in colors as vivid as those Cooper would have used.

"The daring venture of introducing these men in a romance has been crowned with success.' —The Philadelphia Press

"Told with captivating power."—Rt. Rev. WILLIAM E. MCLAREN, Bishop of Chicago.

"A Thanatopsis in Prose."—Boston Post.

"Chaste, pure, elegant."—New York Times.

"Of surpassing interest."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Whenever opened something beautiful is found."—Christian Nation, N. Y.
